U.S. SENATOR HELPS WOMEN'S ROUNDTABLE CELEBRATE FIRST YEAR

U.S. Senator Dianne Feinstein addressed more than two hundred alumni, faculty, students and friends gathered at the Hotel Inter-Continental on May 27, 1998, to celebrate the first anniversary of the Loyola Law School Women's Roundtable. Associate Dean Laurie Levenson presided over the evening's program, which brought recognition to alumnae Nancy Sher Cohen '78 and Mary V. Orozco '62 for their unique places in Loyola's history, and the example they set for women who follow them into the legal community.

The Dinner was also occasion to award the first Women's Roundtable Scholarships. Announced by Scholarship Committee Chair Kathryn Braun, the three awards of $1,000 are designated to assist the recipients with dependent care expenses for the 1998-99 academic year.

The Women's Roundtable welcomed several special guests to the Dinner, including Dean of the Law School, Gerald T. McLaughlin; U.S. Attorney Nora Manella, who introduced Senator Feinstein; President of the Alumni Association Board of Governors, Rebecca Winthrop; Director of Loyola's Cancer Resource Center, Barbara Schwerin; Associate Director of the Center for Dispute Resolution, Marta Gallegos; and a member of the Los Angeles Sparks professional women's basketball team, Allison Feaster.

The Dinner enjoyed the sponsorship of the law firms of Heller, Ehrman, White and Mc Auliffe and Girardi and Keese.

The Loyola Small Practice Network
Announces the Publication of the Second Annual LSPN Directory
in print and on the Web

Don't miss out on those important referrals... list today!

The preparation for publication of the 1998-1999 Loyola Small Practice Directory is underway in earnest. Listing forms for the new Directory have been sent to all alumni listed in the 1997-1998 edition, and to others who have expressed an interest in listing in this year's publication. The Directory will be published and distributed in early fall, 1998. The Directory will also be posted on an LSPN Directory Web Site, which will be linked to the Loyola Law School Web Site.

All alumni in solo practice or a small firm practice (10 or fewer attorneys) are encouraged to list in this Directory which is mailed, free of charge, to all Loyola Law School alumni (in excess of 10,000). The Directory lists each attorney alphabetically and has an index that lists the attorneys by up to five practice areas, with geographic location noted. Alumni who are not practicing law, but are in other businesses, are encouraged to advertise and list their business under a "Law Related Business" or "Law Support Services" category. Advertising space is also available for individuals, law firms, and other businesses of interest to lawyers. Advertisements will be accepted from alumni and non-alumni on a "first in time, first in line" basis for ad placement.

Listing and/or advertising information and forms may be obtained from the Alumni Office. For quickest response, use e-mail: llsgrads@lmulaw.lmu.edu; or fax 213/384-1659. Please include your fax number and/or mailing address. Via telephone, contact Nora Romero: 213/736-1029.

"In later life, as in earlier, only a few persons influence the formation of our character; the multitude pass us by like a distant army."

BE A MENTOR . . .

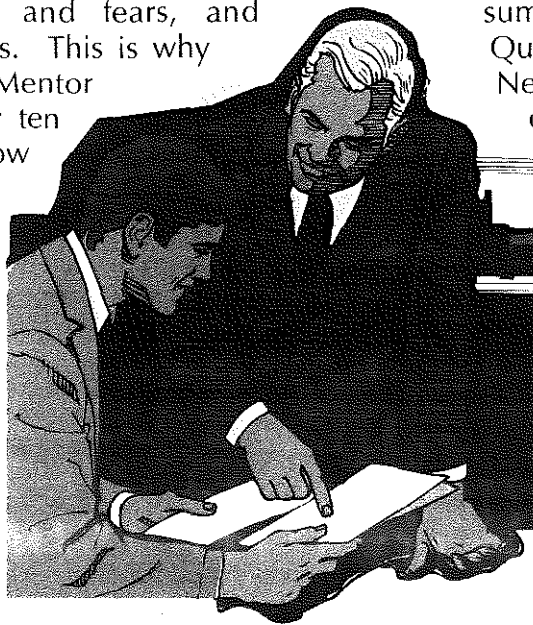

NOT A MEMBER OF THAT DISTANT ARMY

Students returning to Law School for their second, third or fourth year, and those just beginning their legal studies, are already nervously thinking about classes, professors, baby sitters, study groups, money, transportation, spouses, parents, and how to balance any or all of these very necessary elements of their life and still have the time, and energy, to really learn. They have a million questions, and fears, and problems, and more questions. This is why the Loyola Law School Mentor Program was developed over ten years ago, and continues to grow each year.

"Being a mentor is probably the single most important contribution any alumnus can make to the Law School," according to Karen Parks, Director of Alumni Relations. "The impact of a mentor relationship can have long-term effects on both the alumnus and the student, and brings both into a closer relationship with the Law School and other members of the Loyola community." In the past, many Law School alumni have enthusiastically embraced the idea of mentoring current students and found that their participation provided some rewards—friendship with a student, a renewed relationship with Loyola, and a better sense of their own strengths in practice.

The Alumni Association Board of Governors and all affiliated alumni groups (African-American, Orange County, Latino, LSPN, and Women's Roundtable) are working together to implement this important program. Keeping in mind that each student has his/her own unique set of circumstances and concerns, an application was developed to guide the pairing of alumni and students. This application was mailed to every student with their registration packets this summer, and a similar Mentor Questionnaire is contained in this Newsletter to give every alumnus an opportunity to participate.

Students and mentors are advised that the student may look to the mentor for advice on briefing cases, test taking, resume writing or job search tips, for example, but the goal of the Mentor Program is unrelated to job placement. Each mentor pair must decide what suits their own needs, expectations and schedules, and develop their own relationship.

Early in the academic year there will be an event to give mentor pairs an opportunity to get acquainted with one another, and with other alumni and students. Throughout the year, the Alumni Office will be available to provide guidance, if needed. Questions concerning this program may be directed to Karen Parks:

1998-99 LOYOLA LAW SCHOOL MENTOR PROGRAM

MENTOR QUESTIONNAIRE

The Loyola Law School Alumni/Student Mentor Program began over ten years ago. Then, as now, the goal was to provide students with alumni mentors who may give input and support during law school, bar exam preparation and entry into the profession.

There are no requirements for the mentor relationship - the degree of commitment depends on the individuals involved. Meetings may be on a regular basis or simply by telephone; a mentor may involve a student in his/her practice; a student may ask the mentor for advice on briefing cases, test taking, resume writing or job search tips. Each mentor pair must decide what suits their own needs, expectations and schedules. It should be noted that the goal of the Mentor Program is unrelated to job placement. While it is not impossible that a student could find a job via his/her mentor, students are advised that this should not be the goal in applying for a mentor.

The criteria employed for matching mentor pairs derives from the information provided by means of Student Applications and these Alumni Questionnaires. We can render the best service to the students if you complete this application with as much information as possible. Please return your completed Questionnaire to the Alumni Office using the self-addressed, postage-paid envelope enclosed in this Newsletter, or via fax to the Alumni Office: 213/384-1659.

You will be notified of the name, address and telephone number of the individual with whom you have been matched. Early in the academic year there will be an event to give mentor pairs an opportunity to get acquainted with one another, and with other alumni and students. Throughout the year, the Alumni Office will be available to provide guidance as needed. If you have any questions about the Program, you may contact Karen Parks in Alumni Office:
