Summer 2017 (Volume 7.10)

Library Orientation for the Class of 2021

Throughout the month of June, librarians met with over 1,400 incoming first-year students and their parents to talk about the benefits (and inevitability) of making the William H. Hannon Library an integral part of their LMU academic experience. We introduced our new Lions to some of the various spaces, collections, and services that are available to them when they arrive in August.

In case you missed it, here is a quick list of the highlights:

- Research assistance and consultations are always available at our Information Desk or through our 24/7 chat reference service
- Group study rooms can be booked online up to two weeks in advance
- You can check out more than just books: cameras, laptops, and more!
- We have approximately 1 million books, about half of which are e-books and accessible online from anywhere in the world
- Students also have access to over 17,000 streaming films

- Our archives and special collections contains thousands of rare and unique items dating as far back as 2nd Century CE
- Librarians promote information literacy, dialogue, and social justice
- And don't forget the therapy dogs

We are excited to welcome the LMU Class of 2021 to campus next month. It was a pleasure meeting each and every one of you! As always, if you have questions about the library, don't hesitate to contact us.

We Need Student Workers!

We could not offer all the services and support mentioned above without the help of our library student workers. As one of the largest student employers on campus, we are always looking for more help. We are currently hiring for Fall 2017. Go to LionJobs to learn more about all the opportunities for working at the library.
