ANNUAL SCOTT MOOT COURT COMPETITION SET

The annual Scott Moot Court competition will be held on Saturday, March 11, starting at 10 AM in Loyola's Kennedy Moot Court room. The finals are slated for Friday, March 17 at 6:00 p.m.

Any persons interested in participating in the competitions should sign up with their class representatives or in the student lounge.

The Scott Competition is held annually in order to select persons to represent Loyola in the National Moot Court Competitions held in the fall of each year.

In addition, in April of this year, U.C.L.A. is hosting an All-California Moot Court, and persons selected in our Scott Competition will also be able to participate in this event.

This year, as in the past, local area Judges will preside over the competition and will judge the participants.

We urge you to attend the preliminaries on March 11th and the finals on March 17th, as either a participant or as a spectator, for in either capacity, you will find the Scott competitions most interesting and informative.

ST YEAR'S DANCE AND LIBEL SHOW

AS A BALL. SEE YOU ALL THERE

HIS YEAR!

A NOTE OF THANKS

Amidst the tasks that accompany the closing of one semester and the beginning of another, an obliging Loyola Law faculty set aside time to hear student pleas for a new degree.

Last week the student entreaty was answered when Dean Lloyd Tevis addressed the Board of Bar Governors and delivered the welcome news that a faculty decision to adopt the Juris Doctorate had been unanimously approved by the Board of Regents.

With the greatest sincerity we acknowledge the debt of gratitude which we owe to our faculty and Dean, and the professional pride that is ours to have been a part of this educational institution.

CLASS NOTES

In this, their last semester, the Fourth year evening class is actively involved in curricular and extra-curricular activities.

For example, Henry Proctor will head a committee of four, including Patricia Phillips, Peter Sullivan, and Stanley Siegle, who will put their fertile minds together and formulate the parody to be presented in the Libel Show at the dance on April 8th.

The Fourth year class has been interviewing for post bar employment. It appears as if a number of first round draft choices have already been signed.

Ed Cummings and charming wife, Diana, just had baby boy, Julian, born February 8th. Congrats.

LOYOLA'S LEGAL LADIES

The Loyola Chapter of the Women's Legal Fraternity, Phi Delta Delta, met on January 29, for an elegant brunch at the Scandia Restaurant.

Twenty-three members and their guests attended to hear Mr. William Caparella, of the local Securities and Exchange Commission office talk about the role of the S.E.C. in the securities market.

Our members have been the driving force behind the newly decorated Women's Lounge. Special thanks should be given the administration and to the Loyola women alumni for their generous financial contribution to the project. A special expression of appreciation is due Mrs. Martha Yerkes, who donated her time and effort in working with the decorator. According to High Priestess, Pro-Tem, Patricia Phillips, an open house will be held later in the semester.

Two members of our group completed the law school curriculum this January, Patricia Lobello, High Priestess, and Paula Anton, Chancellor. Both will be taking the March Bar examination. Good Luck!
