ON BEING THE DEAN

Gerald T. McLaughlin

At commencement, I reminded our graduates of an interview with Ken Stabler, quarterback of the then Oakland (now Los Angeles) Raiders. In the interview, a reporter read Stabler some passages from Jack London in which London gave his outlook on life.

London wrote "I would rather be ashes than dust. I would rather that my spark should burn out in a brilliant blaze than it should be stifled by dry rot. I would rather be a superb meteor than a sleepy, permanent planet."

"Well," the reporter asked Stabler, "what do you think London was saying?"

Stabler answered in typical quarterback fashion: "London was saying throw deep."

Well, "throwing deep" has been our goal here at the Law School during the last year - "throwing deep" in the sense of trying to push the Law School ever farther ahead both in quality and in reputation. This report is a chronicle of our successes.

STRENGTHENING THE LAW SCHOOL ACADEMICALLY

If you polled law school deans throughout this country, I would be amazed if strengthening the academic reputation of their law school was not the primary goal of each one of them. It is beyond question my primary goal. To me, faculty hiring, scholarly productivity, and innovative teaching are key to achieving that goal.

During the past academic year, we can point to outstanding successes in each of these three categories.

1. FACULTY HIRING. During 1992, we were fortunate to attract two superb new additions to our permanent full-time faculty. Catherine Fisk comes to the full-time faculty from teaching as a Lecturer on Civil Procedure at the University of Wisconsin Law School. Catherine, a Boalt Hall graduate of the Class of 1986, specializes in Labor Law and ERISA. Derek Asiedu- Akrofi, who received his law degree from the University of Benin in Nigeria, holds a LL.M. from Columbia University Law School. Derek, who has worked for, among other organizations, the International Monetary Fund, will teach courses in International Trade and International Banking. Ronald Vera also joins our faculty as a visiting professor. Ron will teach both Education Law and Ethics, Counselling

Estate Planning: Why Put It Off

By Janice H. Burrill, J.D.'82

Director of Planned Giving, Loyola Marymount University

People from all walks of life are increasingly interested in estate planning. This is completely understandable given the amount of family obligations, business interests, and community involvements we each take on in our busy lives.

The basic purpose for preparing a good estate plan is to provide for those individuals and organizations that are important to you, while also protecting your own financial future. An estate plan will include the preparation of a will or living trust and should also take into account life insurance, trusts, annuities, and other planning techniques.

In the course of your estate planning, you should consult with an attorney and other financial advisors who can give you advice on the federal and state tax laws which are major factors in determining the most advantageous plan for handling your assets. The development staff at Loyola Law School and the Loyola Marymount University are also here to assist you in creating a plan which will best meet your financial and philanthropic goals.

Gifts through an estate plan continue to be a key component of support for Loyola Law School. Such charitable gifts include bequests, gift annuities, life insurance, and charitable remainder trusts, many of which offer significant tax incentives to the donor. In the past, such gifts have helped create the building blocks of LMU's endowment, establishing a solid foundation for the future of the Law School and its academic programs. Please consider the future of Loyola Law School in your plans.

For more information on estate planning and planned giving opportunities available at Loyola Law School, please contact Frank Real at (213) 736-1046.

THE 1992-93 ADVOCATES CAMPAIGN

By Irene E. Ziebarth '84

Gifts from alumni through the Advocates Campaign are important to Loyola Law School as they illustrate support for the school from our graduates. This support, no matter what the size of the gift, is important both for our ABA accreditation and for increasing the level of support from foundations which make gifts and grants to Loyola Law School based on the number of alumni contributors. Your gift this year is crucial to meeting Loyola's 1992-93 goals.

In this final year of the Fritz B. Burns Challenge Grant, each two dollars you give will be matched by one dollar.

This is a great way to increase the value of your investment AND help your Law School !

Goals for the 1992-93 Advocates Campaign

Number of Alumni Donors.....1300

Total Alumni Giving.....$ 475,000

Your gift carries with it membership in a donor support group. And you will be listed in the 1993 Honor Roll of Donors.

J. Rex Dibble Fellows:$ 500 and above
