New Board President Silverman Aims to Boost Alumni Involvement

Ami Silverman '87 has been consistently active in the Loyola alumni community — she attended every Grand Reunion since 1983 and every golf tournament since 1986. She has mentored students since she graduated, helped recruit applicants and spoke on panels for the Office of Career Services. A member of the Alumni Association Board of Governors since 2001, she also served as its vice president and treasurer. Silverman is well-prepared for her next position with the group — president.

"My priorities for the coming year are to continue to emphasize programs to strengthen the Loyola alumni community and to foster appreciation for our graduates," says Silverman. That includes overseeing the planning of long-running events like the Grand Reunion and the Bob Cooney Golf Tournament. Silverman will also play a major role in the Alumni Association's outreach to current students, which includes the mentoring program, a reception for graduating students, goodie bags for first-year students during finals, financial assistance and more.

Silverman hopes to increase participation in alumni gatherings. "I want to encourage more alumni and students to become involved in law school events to support our Loyola family," she said. "The Board will continue to assist the admissions and placement offices, and will work on improving how it uses the Internet to communicate with alums."

Silverman's duties include speaking at the Law School's annual swearing-in ceremony for the state bar, an act she relishes because it "provides a seamless bridge between law school and 'real life' for our students." She praises the Association's board for its hard work, saying, "My fellow Board members are remarkable and talented people from all areas of practice, committed to furthering the prestige of our law school and our profession," she says. "I hope to be at least as successful as my predecessors, and will continue the programs they began and remain open to new ways to achieve our goals."

Silverman is a senior trial specialist with the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB), where she has worked for 19 years. She is a member of the Women Lawyers Association of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Orphanage Junior Guild, among other organizations. Prior to her tenure at the NLRB, Silverman was a law clerk at the Times-Mirror Company and a judicial extern in the California Court of Appeal for the Second Appellate District.

For New Chaplain, Loyola is Latest Stop on Journey of Service

Father Kenneth Rudnick is a Renaissance man whose path to becoming Loyola Law School's chaplain was anything but direct. Before joining the Jesuits, he was in management at a major pharmaceutical company, but was searching for something more fulfilling.

"I thought of higher education immediately. I always loved the academic rhythm of the year," he says. "I also thought about service. I reflected on what that meant: you put education and service together and you come up with Jesuit."

After a year of prayer, Rudnick answered his calling. He was accepted into the Jesuit order and ordained in 1990. His studies ultimately led him to Fordham University, where he earned a PhD in epistemology. He also holds master's degrees in theology and divinity.

Rudnick served as dean of Gonzaga University when the school rose to national prominence when it reached the regional finals of the 1999 NCAA tournament. He is thrilled with his most recent transition. "I am very pleased to be at Loyola," he says. "I wish to serve this community, its faculty, alumni, students and staff."

Rudnick, who joined Loyola this semester, is already making an impact on campus. He holds Mass at least three times a week in the Chapel of the Advocate. He also presides over the popular First Friday Forum series, which brings sought-after speakers to campus to discuss contemporary religious issues. Off campus, Rudnick has an eclectic mix of pastimes: listening to jazz, following the Oakland Raiders and cooking.

The 2006-07 Law Firm Challenge Is Underway!

Last year, over 50 firms participated in the inaugural Law Firm Challenge. This year, Executive Director of Advancement Carmen Ramirez hopes to increase the number to 70, saying, "Seventy is an ambitious number but certainly possible." The goals of the Law Firm Challenge are to increase alumni participation at Loyola Law School and to re-engage law school graduates in the life of their alma mater.

The Law Firm Challenge generates support for Loyola Law School by focusing on participation rate and not a monetary goal—thus if a donation of $25 or $25,000 is made, it represents one gift towards the firm's 100 percent participation rate. Participation is what counts! Every gift, regardless of amount, makes a difference.

The 2006-07 Law Firm Challenge cycle includes donations received from June 1, 2006 through May 31, 2007. All gifts received during the cycle will be credited to a firm's participation rate, which means some firms may have already reached the 100 percent participation rate.

The Law Firm Challenge emphasizes personal contributions from alumni at participating firms. Alumni may make a gift by personal check or credit card. Gifts on firm checks cannot be credited toward the firm's participation rate. Gifts to the Law School's Juris Fund are especially appreciated, however gifts can be directed to support any other fund at the Law School, like scholarships, academic programs and chairs, centers and more.

Alumni interested in adding their firm to the Challenge should contact Carmen Ramirez at 213.736.1046 or Carmen.Ramirez@lls.edu.

Christopher N. May Professor of Law Chair Announced

To honor Professor Christopher N. May, the long-time civil procedure and constitutional law professor, Loyola Law School is creating the Christopher N. May Professor of Law Chair.

Efforts are underway to raise funds from the thousands of Loyola alums taught by Professor May since he began at Loyola in 1973.

"Chris May touched the lives of literally thousands of Loyola Law students, and this chair will ensure that his name lives on at our school in perpetuity," said Dean Burcham.

When fully funded, the Chair will provide funds to recruit and retain top faculty. Endowment is critical to the future of Loyola Law School and its ability to support the kind of inspirational faculty exemplified in the teaching career of Professor May.

Those interested in honoring Professor May by making a tax deductible contribution should contact Kenneth Ott, assistant dean for advancement, at 213.736.1025 or ken.ott@lls.edu.
