Students in the top 10 percent of the class qualify for the Order of the Coif, the national legal honor society.

Become involved!

PROJECT LOYOLA NET connects Loyola Law School students and alumni, creating a community of alumni volunteers who are willing to assist students and other alumni with career advice via telephone or email. It is designed to link students and graduates so they can gain first-hand knowledge without the time commitment of a traditional mentor program. Alumni interested in participating in Project LoyolaNet should contact Mary Dettmers at mary.dettmers@lls.edu or 213.736.1029.

Hire Loyola!

Loyola alumni and students value job leads—please let Loyola’s Office of Career Services know about any attorney or law clerk position at your workplace or elsewhere. Alumni interested in participating in Project LoyolaNet should contact Mary Dettmers at mary.dettmers@lls.edu or 213.736.1029.

The Dennis and Anne Beaver Scholarship

Loyola Law School is proud to announce the creation of the Dennis and Anne Beaver Scholarship. The Scholarship is awarded annually to support a student’s legal study in France or Sweden during the summer. The Scholarship will cover the recipient’s roundtrip airfare, summer tuition, housing costs, other living expenses and provide additional spending money. Awarded may attend one of the ABA-approved summer programs in France or Sweden. The Law School thanks Dennis Beaver ’72 and his wife Anne for establishing this generous scholarship and providing students with this extraordinary opportunity.

Few law schools and law firms do not commit resources to developing lawyers who can hit the ground running. Loyola is developing its Business Law Practicum to fill this void, and it will offer a unique and innovative approach to educating business lawyers. Loyola’s Business Law Practicum will develop new materials that encompass an entirely new way of teaching deal-oriented law. It will allow students to study and understand transactions using a simulated deal format that will include a substantial focus on the ethical considerations that face the modern transactional lawyer.

The Practicum will include a capstone course, divided into two free-standing classes—Business Planning: Financing the Start Up and Emerging Growth Business and Business Planning: Selling the Business. Taken in the third year, these classes will allow students to study the entire life cycle of a typical business, and to synthesize and build on substantive law in a practical, real-world setting. Since the capstone course will ask students to review, draft and edit documents typical to a certain type of deal, the classes will simulate transactional work in a law firm and students will be evaluated as if they were in a real law firm. Gregory Rose ’95 Elected President of Alumni Board of Governors

Gregory Rose ’95 was elected president of the Board of Governors of the Loyola Law School Alumni Association, and will serve during the 2006 term. Rose said, “I am honored to have this opportunity to serve Loyola, and look forward to working with the Board and Loyola’s alumni.”

Rose has long been active in the Loyola Law School community—as a student, he was a first-year section representative to the Student Bar Association and he won Best Advocate on the 1994-95 Scott Moot Court Team. He has been a member of Loyola’s Alumni Board of Governors for over six years. He is also a member of the Directors Guild of America, and during the past five years he has been the executive director of business affairs for Sony Pictures Television International Production. He has a BA from Stanford University, and an MBA from USC’s School of Cinema.

Loyola Law School’s Alumni Association, with over 13,000 members, was established to help the Law School maintain its high-quality legal education, assist students and graduates with career development, advocate the highest standards of professional conduct and promote camaraderie in the Law School Law School community. Rose said, “The Board will continue to fulfill this mission through its mentorship program, participation in community service and fundraising to support Loyola initiatives.”

The Board is always ready to welcome participation in the Alumni Association, and Rose encourages alumni to contact Carmen Ramirez, executive director of advancement, with ideas on how they can be reached at 213.736.1046 or carmen.ramirez@lls.edu.
