A New Year and a New Look

Welcome back, Lions and library denizens!

We have a lot of wonderful things in store for you between now and May 2013, just a few of which are featured in this first issue of our redesigned newsletter! We look forward to getting to know our incoming freshmen and new faculty and staff, along with our guests who make this such a rich place to work and serve our community.

LMU may be charging for parking this year (visitors, take note!), but we are certain that what we have to offer here at Hannon Library will be well worth the investment.

This is your library, and on behalf of all of the librarians and staff here, I warmly welcome you back to campus for a new academic year.

Jamie Hazlitt
Outreach Librarian and Editor, Happenings @ Hannon

24/5

You asked, and we heard you loud and clear!

Starting Sunday August 26, all three levels of the library will be open to provide current LMU students, faculty, and staff with a safe place to study and research, 24 hours a day, 5 days a week during the regular academic year. (Sunday through Thursday.)

New A&SC Exhibition: I Was Here

I Was Here: Book and Artifact Graffiti Throughout Time

I Was Here, a new exhibition on display in the Archives & Special Collections Gallery (level 3) through December 19, explores the fascinating range of inscriptions, scribbles and doodles left by centuries of readers and writers, the identity of whom is now mostly lost in time.
