Dean Burcham graduated magna cum laude from Loyola Law School, where he served as chief articles editor of The Loyola of Los Angeles Law Review. He earned his master's degree from Cal State Long Beach and completed his undergraduate work at Occidental College. Following graduation from Loyola, Dean Burcham served as law clerk to the Honorable Ruggero Aldisert, chief judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. Judge Aldisert will be a special guest speaker at the August 24th ceremony. Dean Burcham also served as law clerk to United States Supreme Court Justice Byron White. As professor of law, Burcham has taught courses in constitutional law, legal ethics and legal process, and in April of 1999, was appointed associate dean for academic affairs. Watch your mail for an invitation, and please make plans to attend. PR

Looking Beyond Rampart: Lessons for Los Angeles

Two-Day Public Forum to Address Issues Raised by the Rampart Scandal Thursday and Friday, September 14 and 15, 2000

The scandal associated with the Rampart Division of the LAPD raises fundamental questions concerning the proper functioning of law enforcement, the justice system and city government. Located in the heart of the very community served by the Rampart Division, Loyola Law School bears a special responsibility to address those issues. Accordingly, on Thursday and Friday, September 14 and 15, Loyola will host a two-day conference entitled "Looking Beyond Rampart: Lessons for Los Angeles." This conference will address the issues raised by the scandal in the most comprehensive and inclusive public forum yet attempted.

The first day of the conference will feature community leaders, judges, and prominent members of the bar appearing on panels that address the following subjects:

Internet Voting and Democracy

A Symposium Sponsored by Loyola Law School and The Loyola of Los Angeles Law Review, Thursday, October 26, 2000

"Internet Voting and Democracy" will explore how voting over the Internet can and will alter American democracy. Will more people vote? Will people think about the vote differently if votes are cast on-line? Will they deliberate about political decisions on-line? Will legislatures become obsolete as voters make all policy decisions directly?

This one-day conference will bring together some of the most thoughtful legal scholars, political scientists, and political consultants who write and work in the areas of election law and in the study of cyberspace to consider these and other questions. Papers from the conference will appear in a special symposium issue of The Loyola of Los Angeles Law Review.

Participants: R. Michael Alvarez, California Institute of Technology; Bruce Cain, Robson Professor of Political Science and Director, Institute of Governmental Studies, University of California at Berkeley; Elizabeth Garrett, Professor of Law and Deputy Dean, University of Chicago Law School; Richard L. Hasen, Professor of Law and William M. Rains Fellow, Loyola Law School – Conference Organizer; The Honorable Bill Jones, California Secretary of State; Pamela S. Karlan, Kenneth and Harle Montgomery Professor of Public Interest Law, Stanford Law School; Jerry Kang, Professor of Law, UCLA School of Law; Frank Michelman, Robert Walmsley University Professor, Harvard University; Eben Moglen, Professor of Law and Legal History, Columbia Law School; Dick Morris, President of Vote.Com; Jonathan Nagler, Associate Professor of Politics Science, New York University; John Nockleby, Professor of Law, Loyola Law School; Stephen B. Pershing, Esq., Senior Trial Attorney, Voting

Section, United States Department of Justice; Paul M. Schwartz, Professor of Law, Brooklyn Law School; Eugene Volokh, Professor of Law, UCLA School of Law.

The keynote address, "Ideas and Ideals of the Vote in a Liberal Constitutional Democracy," will be given by Harvard Professor Frank Michelman. The luncheon discussion, led by California Secretary of State Bill Jones, will focus on the future of Internet voting in California. Additional topics to be addressed include "The Soul of a New Political Machine: Pros and Cons in Electronic Democracy," "The Likely Consequences of Internet Voting for Political Representation," and "How the Internet Will Convert Representative Democracy Into Direct Democracy."

Watch your mail for a symposium brochure. PR

Rampart (Continued)

1. What Went Wrong: The Responsibility of the Courts and the Legal Profession for Insuring the Integrity of the Criminal Justice System
2. Structuring Solutions: Civilian Oversight of the LAPD
3. Investigating and Prosecuting Police Misconduct.
4. The Cost of Scandal: Adjudicating the Civil Claims

The second day of the conference will feature an academic colloquium on the implications of the Rampart scandal. Because the subject is of such importance to Los Angeles, the Law School has invited speakers from every fully accredited law school in the metropolitan area, as well as others from around the nation. The entire faculties of each of those schools will be invited to attend.

The conference will be free to attendees, with a minimal charge for those choosing to attend the luncheon. Watch your mail for more information about registration. PR

A Report on Loyola Law School Alumni

By Alina Gottlieb '02

1948 Professor Max A. Goodman has been awarded an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree by Southwestern University Law School in recognition of his 30 years as a faculty member. Before teaching his courses in Family Law and Community Property, Goodman practiced for 27 years as a partner with the firm of Goodman & Hirschberg.

1962 Johnnie L. Cochran, Jr. formed a partnership: Schneider, Kleinick, Weitz, Damashek & Shoot. The firm plans to open offices in Los Angeles, Atlanta and Chicago. Last year, Cochran represented Cynthia Wiggins' family in a wrongful death suit against Pyramid Cos. The case settled in November of 1999 for $2.55 million.

1966 Ralph J. Fear celebrates his 30th year with the San Diego County District Attorney's office. Charles H. Veilleux lives in Maine where he practices some domestic and probate work while enjoying semi-retirement.

1967 Janet L. Chubb was one of 44 lawyers and judges inducted as fellows of the American College of Bankruptcy on March 17, 2000, at the Supreme Court in Washington, D.C. The college is an honorary professional and educational association of approximately 475 bankruptcy and insolvency professionals throughout the world.

1968 Richard S. Plotin is a high profile Encino defense attorney. His accomplishments include the acquittal of his client, Jeanie Adair, a woman accused of killing her husband for insurance money.

1971 Norman M. Beegun celebrates his 25th year with Zenith Insurance, where he practices workers' compensation defense and civil litigation. Elizabeth Yahn Williams received the Publishers Marketing Association and San Diego Publishers Alliance Scholarship to attend the Publishers Marketing University 2000 Book Expo.

1972 Lee Kanon Alpert, founding principal of the Encino's Alpert & Barr, was named the recipient of the 41st annual "Fernando Award" last November. The award recognized Alpert's volunteer work for the improvement of the quality of life in San Fernando Valley. Tony Blankley is a contributing editor for George magazine and a political columnist for the Los Angeles Times and the New York Times. Blankley also makes regular appearances on the television show The McLaughlin Group. Rose Ochi is Janet Reno's assistant attorney general for the Department of Justice. President Clinton appointed her to the position in 1997. She is currently the director of the Justice Department's Community Relations Service. The CRS has 14 offices throughout the country and uses its manpower to facilitate communication between the local law enforcement agencies and the communities they serve. The CRS performs much of its work when racial tensions escalate and a city finds itself in a crisis situation. Prior to this position Ochi was the executive director of the Criminal Justice Planning Office for Los Angeles and the associate director for the White House Office National Drug Control Strategy.

1975 Maureen Binder is in her seventh year as a board director of the Good Shepherd Center for Homeless Women. Robert T. Flesh has been named the president of the California New Motor Vehicle Board for the calendar year of 2000. Jeffrey Kravitz, the new partner-in-charge for Lord, Bissel & Brook's Los Angeles office, oversees the daily business operations of his firm's Los Angeles attorneys.

1976 Jess Araujo has received "The Legion de Honor Nacional," Mexico's version of the French Legion of Honor, for his social and cultural efforts. Araujo's personal injury law practice includes three partners and three staff attorneys, and he continues to teach his popular Chicanos and the Law class at Cal State Fullerton. Jerrold Britvan is in private practice in Southfield, Michigan, where he specializes in legal issues relating to the floor covering industry. Britvan also engages in general civil practice including real estate, commercial litigation and collections. John F. Denove is the current president of the Consumer Attorneys Association of Los Angeles. Stephen D. Richards is vice president of Western Indemnity and is managing the insurance company's response to physician liability in the Fen Phen litigation. Alfred Wurglitz is an associate at O'Melveny & Myers' Los Angeles office where he focuses on technology and the Internet.

1977 Joyce G. Cook is the directing attorney for the Los Angeles Municipal Court's Planning and Research Unit. In December, Governor Gray Davis appointed her to the California Law Revision Commission. The commission makes recommendations to the Legislature based on inconsistencies in state laws. Karol L.K. Pollock was appointed vice president, general counsel and corporate officer for ussearch.com, an internet company providing public record information. Previously, Pollock was a senior staff attorney with the Securities and Exchange Commission and also regional counsel for NASD Regulation, Inc.

1978 Pamela S. Duffy is a partner in the San Francisco firm Coblenz, Patch, Duffy & Bass, where she practices real estate law. She is a member of the Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights of the San Francisco Bay Area, the Urban Land Institute and the Advisory Council of the International Museum of Women. Duffy's numerous high profile land deals include the Catellus Development Corp. which transformed acres of San Francisco rail yards into an urban center and a new stadium for the San Francisco Giants. Michael F. Newman is practicing with his father at Dixon Howell, Westmoreland and Newman in Westwood. Newman specializes in wills, trusts, and estate litigation. William J. Robinson has joined the Los Angeles office of Mayer, Brown & Platt as a partner and head of its West Coast intellectual property practice.

1979 Jeffrey D. Lyddan has joined Carroll, Burdick & McDonough LLP in San Francisco as a partner in the firm's Product Liability Group. Lyddan previously served as managing counsel for Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc. Alan Tippie continues his 12th year as the managing partner for Los Angeles' Salmeyer, Kupetz, Baumann & Rothman. This past year, the Make-A-Wish Foundation named Tippie chair-elect of their board.

1980 J. Scott Bovitz is the vice president and webmaster of the Los Angeles County Bankruptcy Forum, at labankruptcyforum.org. Bovitz is also the vice chairman of the Personal and Small Business Bankruptcy Law Advisory Committee to the State Bar of California Board of Legal Specialization, which certifies bankruptcy specialists. Ellen Perkins has served as president of the Peninsula Chapter of National Charity League for 1999-2000. Her other volunteer work includes the 4H Literacy Program and Little Sisters of the Poor, where she plans activities with senior citizens.

1982 Miles E. Barrett, formally of Wintec Energy, Ltd., is the founding president of Palm Springs Windsurfing.

1983 Maureen A. Crowley has become a partner in the law firm of Holland & Knight LLP, which has merged with her former law firm, Burke, Weaver & Prell, of Chicago. Gregory M. Hulbert was the recipient of Verdictum Juris and O'Brien's Evaluator's 1998 "Defense Trial Lawyer of the Year." Hulbert is the managing partner of Manhattan Beach based Reback, Hulbert, McAndrews & Kjar and specializes in insurance defense matters. Malcolm S. McNeil is the third American to be elected president of the Brussels-based charity organization, the Young Lawyers' International Association. The organization focuses on increasing knowledge of the laws of various countries, promoting international business contacts and coming to the aid of lawyers living under oppressive governments who interfere with legal rights. Julia Sylva has opened up her own practice in Los Angeles, where she will continue to practice government law.

1984 Stephen Allen Jamieson has been certified as a member of The Million Dollar Advocates Forum. Membership, which is limited to trial lawyers who have demonstrated exceptional skill, experience and excellence in advocacy. Janet Spiro Martin celebrates her 10th anniversary as general counsel at Sir Speedy in Mission Viejo. Glenn Mondo was awarded an AV rating by Martindale-Hubbell. In Memoriam

Superior Court Judge James K. Turner '54 passed away in March at the age of 71. Following graduation from law school, Turner worked for a short time as a deputy Los Angeles city attorney. He next moved to Orange County and took a position as a deputy district attorney until entering private practice in 1959. Turner returned to the Orange County prosecutor's office in 1967. In 1969, Governor Ronald Reagan appointed him to Municipal Court. Two years later, Governor Reagan appointed him to Superior Court.

Jerry Fine '50 has passed away. Fine was a transactional business attorney and primary counsel for the Los Angeles Lakers during the 1970's. He was a strong advocate of crime prevention, leading to his involvement with the founding of the District Attorney's Crime Prevention Foundation. Fine also founded the American Media Counsel on Child Abuse, an organization which seeks to raise public awareness on the prevention of child abuse.

Nick Nicholas Mrakich '56 died September 7, 1999 at his South Pasadena home. Mrakich practiced criminal law at his Pasadena office. Mrakich was one of the first attorneys to use Escobedo v. Illinois, (1964) to help a client win a case. Escobedo extended the Fifth Amendment rights of the accused. Mrakich used the holding to successfully represent Fausto Flores. Flores' murder conviction was overturned because his conviction was based on a confession he made to his cellmate, an undercover police officer. Mrakich, a jazz pianist, was a member of the Maestros, an organization of musicians. He was also a member of the Serbian United Benevolent Society.

Charles William Garrity '61, a family law practitioner in Orange, died on November 12, 1999.

Patrick A. McCormick Jr. '61 has passed away. McCormick specialized in insurance defense and complex civil actions.

Alfonso M. Bazan Jr. '65 passed away on December 8, 1999. Bazan was a deputy district attorney for Los Angeles County and later a criminal defense attorney. He was appointed to the bench for the Pomona Superior Court where he served for 20 years.

Hon. Richard W. McLain '68 passed away while on vacation in Rome. After graduation, McLain worked at several Glendale firms. He opened his own office in 1996 and continued to practice until he was appointed to the bench by then Governor Pete Wilson in 1998.

Steven W. Brown '71 has passed away. He was a long-standing employee of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Newport Beach, where he served as vice president and insurance counsel.

Donald Perry Rhoads '71 died on August 8, 1999. Rhoads practiced in San Bernardino and Riverside, where he specialized in personal injury, insurance defense and real estate business litigation.

Susan E. Riley '72 died April 27, 2000.

Charles R. Imbrecht '74 passed away at the age of 50. Imbrecht was a former California state assembly representative from 1974 to 1982 for Ventura County, and served as California Energy Commission chair until 1996. Imbrecht's interest in energy sciences led him to serve as general counsel for Calstart Advanced Transportation Technologies in Pasadena.

Victor Hamada '78 died November 3, 1999.

Rosemary Ann Grimm '79 passed away September 25, 1999. Her brother, Robert Greenwald, is a longstanding Loyola Law School employee who currently works in the William M. Rains Library as stacks supervisor. Classmates Maureen Sheehy '79 and Ladonna Wallace '79 participated in her memorial service. PR
