Happenings @ Hannon

A monthly e-newsletter from the William H. Hannon Library at Loyola Marymount University

October 2011 / Vol. 2 Iss. 2

Greetings!

We're in the thick of Fall semester, and the library is packed!

I hope that all of our users in the building are finding what they came for, whether it's a quiet retreat to study, that one perfect article or book that you need, or research help from one of our expert librarians.

But October also brings with it a fantastic new line-up of speakers, events, and exhibits. Read on for more information. So, whether you're one of our regulars, or tempted to experience our building, services, or events for the first time, we look forward to seeing you at the library.

Warmly,

Jamie Hazlitt
Outreach Librarian

New Centennial Exhibit: Sustaining Splendor

The Department of Archives & Special Collections presents the first in a series of three exhibitions honoring 100 years of Special Collections donors and the important treasures they entrusted to LMU. "Sustaining Splendor" will present a colorful display of art objects and cultural artifacts in the A&SC Gallery, located on level 3 of the Hannon Library.

This exhibit will feature sculpture, paintings, prints, drawings, medallions, and postcards representing our greatest collections, including materials from the Robert and Miriam Kinsey Japanese Art Collection and the Werner Von Boltensstern Postcard Collection, on display with many other historical and archaeological artifacts housed within the library's vault.

Gallery Hours: 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday through Friday

The Book Festival: Heroic Living

In partnership with LMU's Academic Resource Center and Freshman English Program, the William H. Hannon Library invites you to join us in celebrating this year's Common First Year Book, and the uncommon discoveries in reading!

The second annual Book Festival kicks off this month with a series of panels and performances all centered around Heroic Living: Discover Your Purpose and Change the World by Chris Lowney.

Events will be taking place on campus throughout the semester, two of which are hosted by the library this month:

Outdoor Movie Night: The Social Network

Library Amphimeadow (Lawton Plaza)

Sunday October 2, 6:30 p.m.

You bring the blanket, we'll provide the snacks and thought-provoking entertainment. Continuing the theme of business ethics and a purposeful life, The Social Network shows what happens when one man's success comes at the expense of his personal relationships.

Jesuit Spirituality and High Finance: Can They Co-exist in the 21st Century?

William Hannon Library Von der Ahe Family Suite

Tuesday October 18, 12:15 p.m.

Many Americans today have deep concerns about the state of the economy and its relationship to the trust we place in businesses and financial institutions. This session will explore the ethical and spiritual challenges set out in Heroic Living. Featured panelists include Paul S. Viviano, CEO, Alliance Healthcare Technologies & LMU Board of Trustees; Randy Roche, S.J., Center for Ignatian Spirituality and Dr. Tom White, Center for Business Ethics. Moderated by Joe LaBrie, S.J., Special Assistant to the President.
