Liturgy of the Eucharist

Preparation of the Table and the Presentation of the Gifts We Belong To You

1. In the waters of your mercy,
When the old becomes the new,
Souls united in the myst'ry,
We belong to You.
2. Filled with gifts and filled with goodness;
Spirit breathing life into all
Who seek to find their purpose.
We belong to You.
3. When we share the bread you've given,
With the many and the few;
We are blest and we are broken:
We belong to You.
4. We are called to share your Word, Lord,
In all we say and all we do.
As our journey moves us onward:
We belong to You.

"In the evening we shall be examined on love"
— St. John of the Cross

And it won't be multiple choice, though some of us would prefer it that way.
Neither will it be essay, which tempts us to run on when we should be sticking to the point, if not together.
In the evening there shall be implications our fear will change to complications. No cheating, we'll be told, and we'll try to figure out the cost of being true to ourselves. In the evening when the sky has turned that certain blue, blue of exam books, blue of no more daily evasions, we shall climb the hill as the light empties and park our tired bodies on a bench above the city and try to fill in the blanks. And we won't be tested like defendants on trial, cross-examined till one of us breaks down, guilty as charged. No, in the evening, after the day has refused to testify,
we shall be examined on love like students who don't even recall signing up for the course and now must take their orals, forced to speak for once from the heart and not off the top of their heads And when the evening is over and it's late,
the student body asleep, even the great teachers retired for the night, we shall stay up and run back over the questions, each in our own way:
what's true, what's false, what unknown quantity will balance the equation, what it would mean years from now to look back and know we did not fail.
