Libraries Matter.

Did you know that there are more libraries in America than there are McDonalds or Starbucks?

Join us April 12-18 as we celebrate National Library Week. All week long through @lmulibrary social media we'll be sharing stories about libraries and their impact on communities - both here at LMU and off the bluff. The week culminates on April 16 with our third LMU Human Library, which you won't want to miss.

We also invite anyone curious about the vast career opportunities in libraries of all kinds to join us for our semi-annual Careers in Libraries Luncheon during convo hour on Tuesday April 14. Attendees will be treated to a Mendocino Farms lunch and a panel discussion featuring four talented, passionate librarians from public, academic, and special libraries sharing the paths that led them to librarianship and their experiences in this dynamic, ever-changing profession.

The St. John's Bible In Word, Art, & Music

The Saint John's Bible is the product of collaboration between artist-calligraphers, illuminators, scholars, and the monks of St. John's Abbey in Minnesota, and is the first completely handwritten, illuminated Bible to have been produced since the invention of the printing press.

Our limited Heritage Edition reproduction of this manuscript is the gift of Laura '74 and Steven Williamson in honor of former LMU president Robert B. Lawton, S.J.

All are invited to join the William H. Hannon Library, the Program in Catholic Studies, and the Lilly Faculty Seminar on April 15 for a unique presentation and discussion with Suzanne Moore, artist and illuminator for the Saint John's Bible.

The full program for the day will also include musical performances, readings and presentations from LMU faculty, staff and students.

Wednesday April 15 / 3 - 7 p.m. / Von der Ahe Suite

Seeking Faculty Speakers for Pub Night!

LMU faculty - we invite you to submit an application to be featured as a speaker for our Faculty Pub Night series during the 2015-2016 academic year.

The series is approaching its 6th season and, due to growing popularity over the years, we are introducing a new application process to fully ensure a diverse and inclusive lineup that represents a broad cross-section of our faculty across the university.

The deadline to apply for the 2015-2016 season is Monday April 20 at noon.

Apply now!

(And don't forget about our final Pub Night of this academic year, featuring Dr. Martina Ramirez talking about The Sex Lives of Spiders. April 21, 5:30 p.m. RSVP here.)
