LOYOLA LAW SCHOOL SMOKING POLICY

A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

After reviewing the comments received regarding the proposed policy on smoking at Loyola Law School, the consensus is that smoking should be eliminated in the library and all public areas of the school. We have for now acceded to the requests of smoking students that a designated smoking area be maintained in the Student Lounge on an experimental basis. This exception will be reviewed at the end of the semester.

PROMINENT SPEAKER AT LLS!

Loyola Law School will host Dr. Robert Bowman, President and Director of Research for the Institute for Space and Security Studies. He will present an examination of President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative in a talk called, "Star Wars: Defense or Disaster?" on Wednesday, March 4 at 3:00 p.m. in the Moot Courtroom.

Dr. Bowman, a retired Air Force Lt. Colonel, was Director of the Air Force's Advanced Space Programs Development, including what are now "Star Wars" programs, from 1976-78. He is speaking as a guest of Law and Policy of Arms Control and Disarmament taught by Prof. Karl Mannheim and Prof. Tobi Dress. Everyone is invited, and encouraged to attend!

TESTING OF PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITY TO BE EXPANDED

The Committee of Bar Examiners of the State Bar of California has announced that, commencing with the February 1989 bar examination, professional responsibility will be tested as a sole topic or a sub-issue on the essay examination. Candidates for admission to the bar of California are currently required to pass the Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination (a 50-item multiple-choice test), and professional responsibility is a topic tested on the performance test portion of the bar examination. The Committee does not believe, therefore, that this change will alter the ways candidates prepare for the exam but decided to give applicants and law schools two years notice of the change to comply with the spirit of recent legislation requiring such notice when significant changes are made.

Beginning in February 1989, candidates will be expected to be familiar with the California Rules of Professional Conduct, the ABA Code of Professional Responsibility, and the ABA Model Rules when writing their essay answers.

According to the Chairman of the Committee, Dennis Kahane, this change parallels current efforts by the Board of Governors of the State Bar to elevate awareness of professional responsibility issues. "Clearly we recognize that one of the problems that has beset the profession in recent years is the problem of discipline," he said. "It is better to instruct our applicants in the rules of professional responsibility than to have them appear as disciplinary cases a few years down the road."

CAREER PLANNING & PLACEMENT

JUDICIAL CLERKSHIP PANEL & RECEPTION

Wednesday, March 4, 5:30 - 7:00 p.m., Student Lounge

The Judicial Clerkship committee and the Alumni Association invite all Loyola law students to attend a panel discussion on judicial clerkships. Information about the clerkship application process will be distributed. Following the panel discussion, wine and cheese will be served. Loyola alumni who are clerking now or have clerked in the past will be available to answer questions about their clerkship experiences.

Who should attend? Anyone interested in employment as a law clerk to a judge after graduation. A judicial clerkship is an especially attractive way to begin a legal career because of the opportunity to work closely with a judge; many legal employers are especially interested in hiring judicial clerks. Because the application process begins over a year before graduation, second year day and third year evening students should attend. Class of '87 students who will be clerking after graduation are also urged to attend and share their experiences. If you cannot attend, copies of the materials may be obtained from Career Planning and Placement.

LOYOLA LAW SCHOOL

OFFICE of the DEAN

24 February 1987

ANNOUNCEMENT:

TO: The Law School Community
FROM: Arthur N. Frakt, Dean ANF
RE: New Law School Faculty Members

I am pleased to announce that tenure-track offers have been accepted by Bryan D. Hull and John O. Calmore. They will join the faculty in the 1987-88 academic year. In addition, Patrick A. Randolph, Jr. has accepted Loyola's offer to visit for one year, 1987-88, holding the Fritz B. Burns Chair in Real Property.

Bryan Hull, currently a visiting professor at Loyola, received a Bachelor of Arts degree, magna cum laude, in economics from UCLA, from which he also received a Juris Doctor in 1982. He was a member of the Order of the Coif and the UCLA Law Review.

Prior to coming to Loyola, Mr. Hull was counsel for Crocker National Bank, handling diverse legal problems arising in all branches and departments of the Bank. As an associate at Latham & Watkins before joining Crocker Bank, he participated in general corporate practice activities, representing major corporations in securities offerings, stock acquisitions, mergers, real estate transactions, and bankruptcy. A portion of his teaching assignments will continue to be in Commercial Law.

At present Associate Professor of Law at North Carolina Central University School of Law in Durham, North Carolina, John Calmore brings to Loyola a number of years of experience in litigation and advocacy, primarily in the areas of housing, welfare, and health. He is a graduate of both Stanford University, from which he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1967, and Harvard Law School, where his Juris Doctor was awarded in 1971.

Prior to his appointment at North Carolina Central, where he teaches Civil Rights, Torts, and Housing and Community Development Law, Mr. Calmore served as Staff Attorney for the Western Center on Law and Poverty in Los Angeles. This position was preceded by nearly two years as Director of Litigation for the Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles; as Director, he was responsible for overseeing all legal work to ensure compliance with foundation policies and requirements. Before coming to Los Angeles, Mr. Calmore spent several years with the National Housing Project in Berkeley, California as Staff Attorney, and held several other positions of responsibility with various agencies active in public interest law.

Patrick Randolph, a tenured member of the University of Missouri-Kansas City Law School faculty, graduated from the University of California (Boalt Hall) School of Law in 1969, where he was an editor of the California Law Review. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Yale University in 1966.

Professor Randolph teaches Property Law, Real Estate Finance and Development Law, and Administrative Law. Following graduation from Law School, Professor Randolph clerked for Kenneth J. O'Connell, Chief Justice of the Oregon Supreme Court. Prior to commencing his teaching career in 1975, he spent four years as an associate with O'Melveny and Myers in Los Angeles working with the financing of capital projects and redevelopment. Professor Randolph then spent one year as Assistant Attorney General, State of Oregon.

Currently completing a three-volume set of the West Missouri Practice Series, Professor Randolph has written several important articles in his areas of interest. He has recently been named chair of a liaison committee linking the Real Estate Finance Committee of the American Bar Association Real Property, Probate and Trust Law Section with the Mortgage Bankers Association. The purpose of this committee is the development of national uniform commercial loan documents.

I am certain that you will join me in welcoming these three individuals, each of whom brings distinct attributes to Loyola; they are important additions to our faculty.
