What is the Loyola Public Interest Law Foundation (PILF)?

The Loyola Public Interest Law Foundation is a student-run, non-profit organization dedicated to furthering the careers of law students who have chosen to stand up as legal voices for populations traditionally denied a voice, such as: children, victims of domestic violence, the elderly, the homeless and the indigent. PILF channels the energy of Loyola Law School students to give, serve, and work in the public interest by:

- Providing a Summer Fellowship Program enabling students to contribute a summer to public interest legal work*
- Providing much needed legal assistance to the Pico-Union community and surrounding neighborhoods; and*
- Helping launch Loyola students into public interest law careers by providing alumni relations and mentoring.*

The Community

Here, in our own neighborhood, PILF members have participated in countless community service and pro bono programs. Recently, these have included the Public Counsel Homeless Assistance Project, the Barrister's Domestic Violence Project, and Loyola Tutoring Programs serving the 10th Street Elementary School, the Red Shield Youth and Community Center, and Immaculate Conception School.

PILF Summer Grants

Our Summer Fellowship program funds Loyola efforts which may not find support elsewhere, such as independent public interest projects, out-of-state and international public interest positions, and agencies not covered by Loyola's Summer Grant Program. Since the founding of PILF Loyola in 1993, these fellowships have provided over 20,000 hours of legal assistance to the underrepresented here in Los Angeles and throughout the world while supporting full-time summer positions in a variety of non-profit agencies, including:

- AIDS Project Los Angeles
- Black Law Institute
- The Center for Human Rights and Constitutional Law
- The Center for Law in Public Interest
- Dependency Court Legal Services
- International Law Center for Human, Economic, and Environmental Defense
- Legal Aid Foundation
- Legal Corps
- Los Angeles Gay and Lesbian Center
- Public Defender's Office
- San Fernando Valley Neighborhood Legal Services
- Woman's Advocacy Project - Texas

Summer 1998 at the Legal Aid Foundation

by Sharon Matthews

Last summer (1998) I received a fellowship from the Public Interest Law Foundation (PILF) which enabled me to work at the Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles (LAFLA). LAFLA is a non-profit organization that provides free legal services to low income clients throughout Los Angeles. LAFLA has five offices and many different practice areas, such as eviction defense, government benefits, landlord/tenant, consumer fraud, immigration, domestic violence, and trade school fraud.

I worked in the government benefits unit in the East Los Angeles office. It was a wonderful experience for me because it allowed me to take the skills I learned in law school and put them to use helping others. It was a very educational experience for me because I was exposed to new people and new legal issues arising out of the welfare reforms that occurred at the beginning of the year.

At the Legal Aid Foundation I did a significant amount of client intake which helped me become more comfortable with the process of client interaction. In addition, I assisted with preparing for administrative hearings and with researching for some of the cases that LAFLA was taking to trial. I was also able to observe a few of the hearings and attend weekly trainings on different types of government benefits, such as foster care payments, Medical, Calworks, and General Relief. The summer was an interesting and education experience for me.

I feel honored to have received one of the PILF grants because without it I would not have been able to spend the summer with LAFLA. Many non-profit legal services cannot afford to pay their summer law clerks and therefore programs like PILF are needed to ensure that students continue to be able to spend their summers working in public interest law.

The PILF auction is the organization's largest fundraiser and it generates the majority of the money used for the fellowships. Thus, the success of the auction affects the ability of the organization to provide fellowships for the following summer. Because of the critical role the auction plays, PILF needs as much support as possible. Any contribution to the auction will make a difference in the amount of support PILF will be able to give to students next year. The auction makes the PILF program possible, and it is also a lot of fun so everyone should plan to come out for the festivities.

Thanks to my PILF Grant....

by Amanda McDougal

"Through a child's eyes, everything seems possible. Through a child's ears, everything seems simple. Through a child's thoughts, everything seems innocent."

The Public Interest Law Foundation (PILF) grant I received this past summer enabled me to work with dependent and delinquent children at the Orange County Public Defender's Office in the Orange County Children's Court.

Unlike in Los Angeles County, the Orange County Public Defender works with dependent cases (type "300") as well as juvenile crime cases (type "602"). I primarily focused on working with the 602 children this summer, but dabbled in a few 302 cases as well.

Upon arrival, I was initially paired up with a mentor deputy public defender who showed me the ropes and allowed me to follow him through a typical work day. However, it was not long before I was immersed in legal research, writing, and practice - an experience that will last a lifetime.

Not a day went by that I did not receive a new assignment. Just a sampling of the many types of motions I wrote included Motions to Suppress Evidence, Pitchess Motions, Motions to Dismiss, Motions to Conduct a Line-up - just to name a few. I was also given the unique opportunity to observe juvenile proceedings which are closed to the public as well as interview young wards and suspects in order to hear their side of the story. The look in their eyes evidenced the comfort they felt that someone was really on their side in a system that sometimes loses sight of the needs of the real victims - the children.

Thanks to my PILF grant, I came away with a binder full of writing samples, much needed oral advocacy experience, and a greater understanding of the legal system as a whole.

Summer Fellowship

by Diem Nguyen

The PILF fellowship I received this summer allowed me to help defend the Constitutional rights of others. I clerked at the Alternative Public Defender's Office, the office that represents indigent defendants when there is a conflict of interest with the Public Defender's Office. In two short months, I gained exposure to almost every aspect of the criminal process.

I worked in the arraignment court next to Mens' County Jail in downtown Los Angeles. There, I interviewed clients charged with misdemeanors. I found that many clients simply want someone to listen to their side of the story. They appreciated my taking them and their situations seriously and I found great satisfaction in doing so. I learned that often, innocent clients will plead "no contest" simply because it will get them out faster than pleading "not guilty." My job was to help them understand their options and the legal consequences of these options.

In addition to working in arraignment court, I researched several criminal issues, including

"search and seizure." For one client in particular, I was able to sit in on her initial interview with the attorney. Meeting the client gave me extra motivation as I researched and wrote a very difficult to win motion to suppress evidence. It was very rewarding hearing my motion being argued in court. Although the evidence wasn't suppressed, I felt great in knowing that I fought for the client's Constitutional rights against an unreasonable search and seizure.

Also, I was able to go to different courtrooms in the criminal courts building and experience various aspects of the trial process, from preliminary hearings in drug cases to attempted murder trials. The office also arranged a tour of Mens' County Jail and the L.A. Coroner's Office for me.

I thoroughly enjoyed this summer at the Alternative Public Defender's Office. Every day was exciting, interesting, and rewarding. I would not trade this summer's experience for any other possible job or internship and I am very grateful to PILF for giving me the opportunity.

For a good time call:

We are looking for two or three staff writers for the Loyola Reporter. Great resume value! Hours are minimal and flexible to fit your schedule.

There is possibility for advancement to an editor position for dedicated staff writers. Training will be provided to the new editors, and the outgoing editors will be lending help and/or advice during the following school year.

Interested applicants should call (213) 736-8117 or leave a message at the Loyola Reporter office in the Student Services building, room 224.

The positions are open to evening students as well as to day students.

Message from the Dean

The Loyola Public Interest Law Foundation (PILF) has in the space of five years become one of the most dynamic student organizations on campus. Since its founding in 1993, PILF has raised over $160,000. This money has funded over 50 Summer Fellowships for Loyola Law students and helped support the Law School's new Center for Conflict Resolution. The hard work of the student members of PILF has contributed to Loyola Law School's being named by the National Jurist in 1997, as one of the top ten public interest law schools in the United States.

Through this evening's activities, PILF is contributing further to the Law School's strong commitment to public service. The moneys collected from this evening's casino and auction will be used to fund both summer grant programs for our students and our Center for Conflict Resolution.

I wish to thank all the members of PILF, the faculty, student organizations and other individuals who have donated their time and resources to make this casino and auction the great success that it is.

As Dean, I am unabashedly proud of PILF's efforts. Sincerely,

Gerald T. McLaughlin

Faculty

Are you seeking an opportunity for a closer, bonding experience with Loyola students? Have you ever had the urge to stop mid-sentence during a lecture and declare, "I am more than just a highly esteemed professor of law...I am also a musician in a rock band or jazz group," or are you a superb baker of killer double chocolate espresso cheesecake. Well...here is your chance! Auction off your special talent or even yourself at this year's PILF Auction. Follow the lead of your fellow professors who have already donated items, such as Dinner for Four at the Getty with Associate Dean Laurie Levenson with transportation courtesy of Levenson's 1963 Silver Cadillac Convertible, "The Silver Shark" OR Afternoon of high tea for ten students with Professors Aprill, Costello, Murray, Pratt and Reaves OR Dinner for six at Professor Gold's home with a lock of his precious hair to be cut on the spot!

It's Fun and Good for You - Professor Sande L. Buhai

No - I am not talking about Life cereal. I'm talking about the PILF Auction and Casino Night on October 10th. On behalf of the faculty, we really hope to see you there. As usual, we are donating all kinds of great prizes - like dinner for six cooked by a faculty member, a chance to play basketball (two on two) against two of our most athletic Professors, a Pony party for your child and four friends, and many more opportunities to hang out with your favorite Profs. to support a good cause.

Have you ever wanted to take Boxing lessons? One Professor is donating some - you have to come to find out who. Do you want to see your friends and Professors playing casino games and winning great prizes? Come and find out who knows how to play craps. Do you want to network with alumni? Come and show them what a good person you are by supporting PILF.

Even if none of the above sounds cool, you should still come to the Pilf auction because it is the right thing to do. See you there.

Students:

Besides free food and drinks, you will have the chance to socialize with hundreds of judges, attorneys, politicians and business people representing Loyola alumni, not to mention your favorite teachers and administrators. ALSO you will have the chance to bid on creative personal service items donated as auction items by your professors.

PILF's Continued Success is Entirely Dependent on Support from People like YOU!

Your money goes directly to Loyola Students who want to serve the public inter- but are unable to do so without economic assistance.

Hundreds of people attended last year's event where a myriad of items donated local businesses and individuals were auctioned off. In addition to attending the ent, you can help by contributing a tax-deductible donation, auctionable item or onal service. Any donation will be recognized through exposure in the Auction program, Donor Book and at the Auction itself. For more information or to get volved in public interest projects, please call (213) 736-8116 or stop by the ce in Student Services, room 226.

ATTENTION ALL STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS: HAVE YOU RESERVED YOUR TABLE FOR THE PILF AUCTION & CASINO NIGHT YET?

PILF invites all student organizations and it's members to end the 6th Annual Auction & Casino Night, October 10, 1998. For here $150 donation, each student organization can reserve a table for . The donation entitles each organization to admit 10 people of heir choice. Each person will receive dinner, free flowing beer & me, and casino cash. In addition, each organization will receive free ertising.

If your organization would like to participate, please transfer $150 into the "PILF Auction Income Account" OR drop a $150 check at the information center for PILF. Also submit a list of the 10 people who you are inviting to sit at your table. They will then be put on the guest list and granted admission.

GUESS? IS PROUD OF ITS LABOR RECORD

GUESS? Supports Workers' Rights

GUESS? GUARANTEES ITS INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS ARE 100% SWEATSHOP-FREE AND IN FULL COMPLIANCE WITH THE FAIR LABOR STANDARDS LAWS.

Five years ago, GUESS? Jeans, a Los Angeles-based manufacturer, initiated the very first voluntary monitoring program of apparel contractors in the United States with the U.S. Department of Labor. This monitoring program guarantees that all workers in the apparel industry working on GUESS? garments are paid proper wages and overtime in compliance with federal and state labor laws.

programs work!!*
